

PRINCEly achievements!

Co-directors of Accompli Sara Shailer and Sally Howe are celebrating achieving foundation and practitioner qualifications in PRINCE2, a structured project management method that is the de facto standard used extensively by the UK government and increasingly recognised and used in the private sector.

“Project management is central to what Accompli offers and has been since it started trading 14 years ago,” says Sara. “We’re both delighted to have a qualification that recognises the complexities and sets out a process to ensure everyone involved in a business change knows what to expect, where, how and when.”

“Having been involved in managing both large and small projects, in the private and not-for-profit sectors, Sally and I enjoyed reflecting on the practical application and scalability of the method during an intensive preparation period for the examinations. We concluded that aspects of the method are relevant for each and every project, and that clients will benefit from our judicious use of the PRINCE2, applied alongside years of hands-on project management experience.”

Based in Cheltenham and Newbury, Accompli provides project- and interim-management services, as well as business consultancy. For further information, visit www.accomplli.co.uk.

Notes

1. PRINCE stands for Projects IN Controlled Environments. The method was established in 1989 and has since been through a number of iterations, benefiting from the experiences of many project managers and teams who have contributed to its development.
